

Kinesiology

Career Opportunities

The program of study in Kinesiology is interdisciplinary and dedicated to the critical study of human movement. The advancement and dissemination of movement-related knowledge is central to the program's mission. Faculty in the program of study in Kinesiology utilize a broad variety of approaches to the integrative study of human movement, including research themes such as, lifespan physical activity, disability and reconditioning, physical culture and education, human factors, and human performance. Students majoring in Kinesiology can pursue a concentration in Kinesiology, Athletic Training and P. E. Teacher Certification.

Because of its breadth of focus, Kinesiology provides an excellent foundation for numerous professional and scientific careers. Listed below are examples of career directions that a degree in Kinesiology can provide.

Athletic Training
Physical Education Teaching
Occupational Therapy
Coaching
Physical Therapy
Athletic Administration
Physician Assistant
Corporate Fitness
Physician

Exercise Physiology
Chiropractic
Health Promotion
Cardiac Rehabilitation
Personal Training
Research Science
Graduate Study
Sport Law
Sport Psychology

The College of Applied
Health Sciences

University of Illinois
at Urbana-Champaign

For more information on the program of study in Kinesiology, please visit <http://www.kch.uiuc.edu>, or call (217) 333-2461 to meet with an Academic Advisor.